FRIENDLY ADVICE TO SWEARERS

The Unfituens of Eking Out a Barren Supply of Ideas with an Abundant Crop of Profanity.

[Burlington Hawkeye]
Nobody cares for the swearing of a habitual swearer His voileys of profamity have no terror in them. They mean nothing. It is the man who never swears who scares you out of you hoots if once in a lifetime he does swear. So far as we can learn, Washington only swore once during all the eight years of the revolutionary war. But that one time counted it turned back the tide of retreat, changed a next the resolution are the counter. changed a rout into a victory and made things han list the follow who swears on things him. But the follow who swears on all ocasions, and swears hot and cold with the same mouth, the intellectual purper who election his batton supply of ideas with an abundant crop of profanity, whose conver-sation is a long chain of mili privileges and who talks as a beaver works, his swearing is weak. Vanid. the same, disgreting. So, if weak, vapid, tuesome, disgusting. So, if you want to swem with any effect, my boy, be very seldom about it Be exclusive in be very sediom about it. He exclusive in your profamity. If you can't get along without it, being it out or casionally. Ifke rate old faults diamonds, don't keep it running six or eight hours a day, like the kitchen hydraut.

And—you won't be offended, my son—but if you will obsay a closely, you will perceive that young men, toos, fledgelings of about you age, swear more than more More frequently, more myleantly, with less point quently, more awkwardly, with less point and direction. A man becomes ashamed of it. It is length to the eigenstee and matineo parend of the, my boy. It is a habit that flourishes in the bread and-butter days, along somewhere between the high school and the college and while the blue ribbon on the diploma is bright. It holongs to what Puck so aptly calls the "unsalted generation," the fresh young men So put it away and put on

I know some good men, some of the best in the world who will confound it, and even do gone it, and in New England even it deacon has been known, under a forrible strain to 'condomn' But as a rule, my sen, don't don't. Don't swein. It isn't an son, four door, Don't swell It said an evidence of similaries of worldly wisdom. Any hole can swell. And a great many forlishe. I my sont Ah, if I could only gather up all the racless, incalled for, ineffective swears. I have dropped along the pathway of my life, I knew I would remove standing blocks from many experienced for any my contracted by bather by teet, and my own heart would be lighter by a ton than it is to day. But if you are going o be a feel just because other men have been oh my son, my son what an awful, what a colossal what a hopoless 1001 you

The Truth in Regard to the Alleged Su eide of Mrs. Johnson Likely to Appear - "Shot and Killed Upon Her Bed."

Indianapolas, Dec. 13.-On the night preceding the suicide of Mrs. Marietta G. lohnston, wife of Capt. S. T. Johnston, she joined with her father and husband in executing a dead of her homestead proper ty to Roy. John B. Wakefield of Richland, in trust for her son, Griffith L. Johnston, who is still a minor. The next morning she through the heart. Yesterday afternood Dr. Edward Griffith, her father, flied suit against Johnston and Dr. Wakefield to set aside that deed, alleging that Johnston fraudulently and fasely secured Dr. Wake field's co-operation in obtaining a conveyance of the property, knowing that Wakefield was a life-long and itusted friend of the family, and representing that he and Johnston could not live longer than spring, and that, as his wife was young and would remarry, it was necessary the interests of the son should be looked after in this manner. The property wa held jointly by the plaintiff and Mrs Johnston, and, acting under the advise o colved in signing the conveyance. dentiff also avers that Johnston falsely epresented to Dr. Wakefield that his wife Marielta G. Johnston, 'had been se duced while in Tennessee by a man named Henry, thereby allenating and forever inally purchased, it is alleged that Johnston pald for his half by giving a mortgage for 13,000, and that when the deed of trust was made he claimed to have the money in buck at Knoxville with which to lift the mort. o'clock a truck loaded with mattresses and which had been intrusted to Johnston. The complaint, in alluding to the death > of Mrs. Johnston, says that she "was shot and killed upon her bed in her room. The illing of this suit has excited lively the fling of this will have execute fively gossip and it develops that there is a very litter feeling against Capt, Johnston among the people who were the friends of Mrs. Johnston, and they number some of the very best in the city. All sorts of re-mors are affont and the closing p tragraph in the complaint as above is interpreted as a belief upon the part of Dr. J. Griffith that his daughter did not commit suicide, but was murdered in her bed. Her friends are exceedingly angry of the report that sle was led astray while visiting her husband, who was then, as now. In the pension department stationed at Knoxville. On the other hand, the high character of Rev. Dr. Wakefield makes it incredibtout he would lead himself to any covert scheme, the more so as he is credited with saying that the future would show that Capt. Johnston had acted with great mat-

Capt. Johnston returned to Knoxylile immediately after the burial of his wife, but it is taken for granted that the present comiations will recall him to this city at once. It is was given out at the time of the sur ndo that Mrs. Johnston was temporarey nsane; that she herself realized as nine by that she was fearful she she would be sent to a private asylum for treatment, and case the reason why she took her own life.

Tenim Wreckers' Work.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 13.-A section gang of seven men on the Tuscaloosa road, branch of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, were riding yesterday on a hand ear when it suddonly bounced from the track and plunged from a trestle down fifty feet to the ground. Two of the men were killed outright, one probably fatally mangled and the rest badly bruised. Examination showed that some person had nailed large hand-spikes on the track, and the ear, striking these, was thrown from the trestle. A freight train passed in safety immediately after the accident, the heavy weight beating down the spikes. A reward is offered for the perpetrators, and detectives have been put on the

The Niantic Trouble.

Supt. Graham is still having trouble with the 43 miners out on a strike at the Niantic mine. The men refuse to resume work unless the objectionable screens, width, are exchanged for the old patternone inch. The men say the new screens let too much coal fall through which reduces the earnings of the diggers. It is expected that the men and Mr. Graham will come to some understanding about the matter soon, so the employes can go to work and earn something to keep the wolf from the door. Sent to Obio.
